

Transplanting

Due to directional stem arching, it is very important to position 'Dragon Wing' plugs properly when placing more than one plug into baskets and containers for finishing.

Plugs must be placed with the growing shoot facing outward, toward the outside of the container (see drawing). This directional growth remains consistent as the plant matures.